

IN THIS ISSUE

News Superbrands Romania

Superbrands Romania Voting Process Has Ended.

The voting lists were collected at the beginning of August. Superbrands Romania Started a New Phase of the Programme. The voting lists were sent to Nielsen, which will process and tabulate the council's scores.

Meet the 2008 Business Superbrands Council Members!

The Business Superbrands Romania Council is featured on www.superbrands.com/ro

Superbrands Programmes in Important Stages!

Superbrands Sri Lanka launches Business Superbrands Volume One.

32 Business Superbrands are featured in the book that is to be launched in August 2008.

Superbrands Mexico finalized the third volume of Mexico's Greatest Brands book.

45 brands were selected and agreed to be featured in this year's book.

Superbrands India has finalized the fourth Superbrands book, the second Business edition.

The book will be launched by India's former Deputy Prime Minister Shri L. K. Advani in New Delhi.

Superbrands East Africa will unveil the first Superbrands East Africa book.

The event will take place on August 14th, 2008.

Extra, Extra, Read all about it! Celebrate with us the longevity of four notable Superbrands!

Vogue once claimed that "if it wasn't in VOGUE, it wasn't in vogue." Ladies tend to still agree with it.

This 2007/2008 Coolbrand UK glamorously presented the changing roles of women over the years.

This year's Tour de France has just ended. Have you gotten the inside scoop from L'Equipe?

L'Equipe, one of France's Grandes Marques, is closely linked to the history of cycling.

The Economist - Not read by millions of people. So they say.

The Economist has been recently named a 2008 Business Superbrand UK.

On a daily basis, The New York Times reports all the news that's fit to print.

According to the Bonnie Goebert Company, this American Superbrand has extremely loyal readers.

Did You Know...

Things You Might Not Know About Superbrands

What do Charlie Chaplin, apples and wounded soldiers have in common?

As always, information and other submittals from our family of Superbrands readers are most welcome!

SUPERBRANDS ROMANIA

Superbrands Romania Voting Process has ended.

The voting lists were collected at the beginning of August. All 21 council members were asked to assess each brand considering the following factors: Reputation & Prestige, Quality, Reliability & Trust, and Distinction. The list with the brands prepared by Nielsen, Superbrands partner of the Romanian programme, included approximately 1000 relevant brands for 34 business categories.

Superbrands Romania Started a New Phase of the Program.

The voting lists were sent to Nielsen, Superbrands Romania's partner in implementing the program, which will process and tabulate the scores the council members have allocated to each brand.

Business Superbrands Romania Council Members Featured on www.superbrands.com/ro.

In order to present you the distinguished personalities of the new Romanian Business Superbrands Council, we posted on our new Superbrands Romania website a brief presentation with photo of each Council member.

SUPERBRANDS INTERNATIONAL

Superbrands Programmes in Important Stages!

Superbrands Sri Lanka Launches Business Superbrands Volume One.

Following the development of the first Superbrands Programme in 2007, Sri Lanka has reached the final stage of the 2008 Business Superbrands Programme. The top scoring brands in line with the mentioned criteria were invited to participate in the program. Furthermore, 32 Business Superbrands were featured in the publication that is to be launched in August 2008 at the Gala Tribute Event.

Superbrands Mexico Launches Mexico's Greatest Brands.

Superbrands Mexico has finalized this year's Mexico's Greatest Brands book with the release of the third Volume on July 29th. Following the validation of Mexico's Council, which comprised 10 highly regarded members of Mexican business community, 45 brands were selected and agreed to be featured in this year's book.

Superbrands Mexico has already started working on the fourth Superbrands volume; the council for the Superbrands program which is supposed to be launched in 2009 Fall is being formed.

Superbrands India has finalized the Fourth Superbrands Book, the Second Business Edition

India's fourth Superbrands book (with 74 brands) will be launched on August 20th, 2008 by India's former Deputy Prime Minister in New Delhi. In addition, Superbrands India has started the preliminary work on the 5th book (3rd edition of Consumer Superbrands).

Superbrands East Africa will unveil the First Superbrands East Africa Book

Superbrands East Africa will also unveil the Superbrands East Africa volume 1 in a Gala Tribute Event and Award Ceremony on August 14th, 2008.

Extra, Extra, Read all about it!

In this vintage issue of the Superbrands Romania newsletter, we decided to celebrate the longevity of four remarkable Superbrands!

Yes, they're old. Really old. However, they've always been in "vogue" and comprised "all the news that's fit to print." Sometimes they even prided themselves that they were "not read by millions of people" with a hint to their high-quality reporting. Printed on yellow paper, white paper, regular paper or glossy paper, the newspapers below represent internationally the gold standard of publications.

Say stylish, culturally sophisticated women and try not to think of "Vogue." Say "Tour de France" without mentioning "L'Equipe." Think "news" without the "New York Times." Imagine high-quality analysis on international business and world affairs and try to omit "The Economist." It is pretty hard, isn't it?

They have loyal, extremely dedicated readers with whom they have an intense relationship. Without these Superbrands, there seems to be an absolute gap in their readers' lives that no other newspaper or medium can fulfill.

Enjoy!

On a daily basis, The New York Times reports all the news that's fit to print.

Henry Jarvis Raymond and George Jones founded The New York Times in 1851. Its exposé of widespread corruption of the Tammany Hall Democratic organization, run by "Boss" William Marcy Tweed, in New York City, helped to end Tweed's hold on city politics and became a landmark in American journalism.

In 1896, Adolph S. Ochs, a newspaper publisher from Chattanooga, Tennessee, bought The Times, which was then having severe financial difficulties. He took The Times to new heights of achievement, establishing it as the serious, balanced newspaper that would bring readers "All the News That's Fit to Print" (a slogan that he coined and that still appears on the paper's front page).

His publication would do so, he added, "without fear or favor." Mr. Ochs introduced such features as The New York Times Magazine and The Book Review.

Times readers are known to have an exceptionally intense relationship with their newspaper. Bonnie Goebert, president and owner of The Bonnie Goebert Company - marketing research firm- said, "In over 25 years of researching loyalists in virtually every product or service category, I have rarely encountered such a dedicated group. Without The Times, there seems to be an absolute gap in their lives that no other paper, indeed no other medium, can fulfill."

Things you might not know about Superbrands

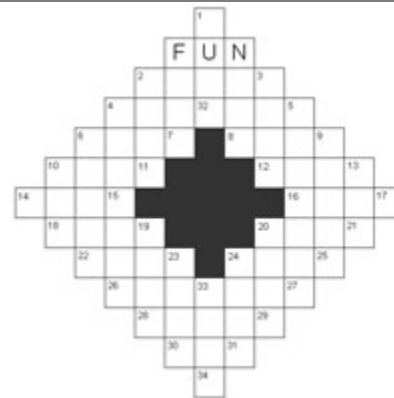

In 1880, Will Keith (WK) Kellogg went to work for his brother, Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, at the Battle Creek Sanitarium. Whilst developing a nutritious cereal food for his patients in 1894, a freak laboratory accident resulted in wheat flakes. The patients loved this new flaky cereal product, and demanded supplies, even after leaving the sanitarium. Today, the Kellogg Company distributes its products in 130 countries.

Dove Cream Bar was originally developed to heal the burns of soldiers in war.

In 1925, The Daily Telegraph became the first British newspaper to publish a daily crossword. The world's first crossword, by Arthur Wynne, first published in the New York World in 1913, is available at <http://thinks.com/crosswords/first2.htm>.

In the largest supermarket chain in Turkey, seven Knorr items are sold every ten seconds.

Apple's first logo, designed by Steve Jobs and Ronald Wayne, depicts Sir Isaac Newton sitting under an apple

Chaplin's Tramp character was portrayed by musician and artist Steve Fairnie in a famous 1980s advertising campaign for the IBM PC personal computer and later IBM PCjr.

tree. Almost immediately this was replaced with Rob Janiff's "Rainbow Apple"

*Warm regards,
Superbrands Romania Team*

++

Copyright © 2008: BDR Associates | A Hill & Knowlton Associate

This Newsletter is sent by Superbrands Romania to all its members and to its subscribed distribution list. Superbrands Romania will never disclose your information to third parties for any purpose. If you would like to unsubscribe, please send us an email at office@superbrandsromania.com